
From Emancipation to Equality:
The Unfinished Business of Civil War and Civil Rights

This is the first event in the Tracing Center's nationwide campaign to engage diverse audiences in meaningful dialogue on the unfinished business of the U.S. Civil War and the civil rights era. The program will include a multimedia presentation, participation by local panelists, and robust dialogue with the audience.

Join us as we mark the 150th anniversary of Emancipation and the 50th anniversary of the March on Washington with a public program exploring our nation's racial progress and the work that remains to be done. How can we better understand the North's role in slavery, the Civil War, and the civil rights movement? How can we overcome enduring obstacles to racial healing and equity, and address critical social issues today?

Featuring a presentation by James DeWolf Perry, Tracing Center on Histories and Legacies of Slavery

With Panelists: Marian Darlington-Hope • Lynda Detterman • Larry Kim • Eva Martin Blythe • Debby Irving

Moderated by Brian Corr

Thursday, June 13, 2013
Light refreshments begin at 6:00 • Program begins at 6:30

Cambridge Public Library, Lecture Hall
449 Broadway, Cambridge, MA 02138

Contacts:
Tracing Center - Marga Varea, mvarea@tracingcenter.org, 617-924-3400
Cambridge Peace Commission - Brian Corr, bcorr@cambridgema.gov, 617-349-4694

Cosponsored by the Cambridge Peace Commission and the Tracing Center on Histories and Legacies of Slavery

This event is free and open to the public. It is funded in part by Mass Humanities, which receives support from the Massachusetts Cultural Council and is an affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.