Part I Total Crime

- Serious crime in Cambridge slipped downward by 24% when compared with 2012, and when measured against the 5-year weighted average for this timeframe, a 17% decline has been recorded.
- Over the past 4 weeks, there has been a 15% increase in Part I crimes with 28 more incidents having been reported.
- For the second time thus far in 2013, both violent and property crime recorded increases over the past month. However, both the year-to-date totals and the 5-year averages are down considerably.

Part I Property Crime

Property crime is registering a 25% decrease below the number reported during this time frame in 2012, and an 18% drop from the 5-year average. The majority of the larceny categories saw increases over the past four weeks, but in the long-term view, these categories are still registering decreases. Burglary is down across all three comparisons, most notably 37% from 2012.

Part I Violent Crime

- The projected 5-year weighted average for violent crime in Cambridge for the first four months of the year is 124 incidents. For the period between January and the end of April of 2013, there were 106 violent crimes recorded in the City, 21 incidents below last year (-17%) and 18 violent crimes under the total of 124 forecasted for this period (-15%).
- The first two murders of the year were recorded in April. A complete synopsis of these incidents can be found on the next slide. All of the other violent crimes: Rape (-22%), Robbery (-15%), and Aggravated Assault (-19%) registered significant declines when compared with the totals for the first four months of 2012.

MURDER

No Patterns

- The first two murders of 2013 in Cambridge were recorded in April:
- Aisling Brady McCarthy is facing a murder charge in the death of a Cambridge child who died in January. McCarthy was the child's nanny. On April 13th, Middlesex County grand jury indicted the 34-year-old on charges of first-degree murder and assault and battery on a child causing bodily injury. McCarthy was arrested after the death of Rehma Sabir of Cambridge, who was hospitalized with severe head injuries on her first birthday and died two days later. McCarthy had been jailed in lieu of $500,000 in bail while authorities awaited the child's autopsy results.
- At approximately 10:20 p.m. on April 18th, Cambridge police received reports of shots fired on the MIT campus. At 10:30 p.m., an MIT campus police officer was found shot in his vehicle in the area of Vassar and Main Streets. Officer Sean Collier, 27, was found with multiple gunshot wounds. He was transported to Massachusetts General Hospital and pronounced deceased. Authorities launched an immediate investigation into the circumstances of the shooting and determined that two males were involved. The case is being investigated by local, state, and federal authorities working in cooperation. The investigation remains active and ongoing. No further information is available at this time.

- During the first two months of the year, there was a rape that occurred between acquaintances at a Cambridge hotel and remains under investigation. There were 3 reports of rape between family members and acquaintances. The circumstances of the fourth incident are being investigated.
- The first stranger-to-stranger rape of the year was recorded in March. This incident involved a blitz type scenario late at night in Central Square. This case remains under investigation.
- The seventh rape of the year occurred on March 30th in the vicinity of Central Square and was a sexual assault between two homeless subjects who were acquaintances.

- Street robberies have fallen 21% when measured against the 5-year average, down 7 crimes from the projected total of 34 incidents. When compared with the first 4 months of 2012, there has been an 18% decrease from 33 to 27 street robberies.
- There have been only 6 commercial robberies (at two convenience stores, a bank, a drug store, and two retail establishments) so far in 2013. Arrests have been made in 4 of these incidents.
- The overall number of robberies jumped from 6 in March up to 14 in April of 2013 (133% increase). The majority of this increase can be attributed to a rise in unrelated street robberies without weapons scattered throughout the city. There were arrests in three of these crimes.

Street robberies have fallen 21% when measured against the 5-year average, down 7 crimes from the projected total of 34 incidents. When compared with the first 4 months of 2012, there has been an 18% drop from 33 to 27 robberies targeting individuals. The majority of street robberies have been scattered and unrelated. No patterns have been identified.

3 unrelated robberies in Harvard Square were 3 weeks apart in March. In two incidents, the victims were males who were targeted for their laptops. Disparate robbery of hotel guest in mid-April.

There have been 6 robberies in close proximity to Central Square in 2013. Four of these incidents involved homeless subjects. Four arrests on these unrelated crimes.

5 East Cambridge robberies. 2 in January, 2 in February – unrelated – a domestic scenario and drug deal gone bad in 2 of the incidents . Fifth robbery was at ATM on Cambridge Street in late April.

- During the first four months of 2013, there were 107 total burglaries (the combination of residential and commercial burglaries) reported in Cambridge. This number is down 37% when compared to last year during this time period and is 25% lower than the 5-year average of 143.
- Commercial burglary has dropped 40% when compared with 2012, with 8 fewer incidents counted, and has dropped 48% when measured against the 5-year average.
- Residential burglaries ("housebreaks") are down 36% from the first four months in 2012. There have been a series of daytime breaks in the 300 to 400 blocks of Columbia St and Elm St during March and April. A regional uptick in housebreaks over recent weeks has failed to take hold in Cambridge to date.

April 2013

The afternoon / evening pattern on Wednesdays and Saturdays in West Cambridge and Peabody continued sporadically over the first three months of 2013. There was a break on Story Street in April that was not related to the previous series.

Series of daytime breaks in the 300 to 400 blocks of Columbia and Elm during March and April. In the majority of these incidents, entry was gained to apartment via side windows. Many of the locations had multiple roommates. Laptops are the primary targets of the burglars.

Similar to Area 4, most of the breaks in Cambridgeport/ Riverside took place in January, with a few sporadic incidents on weekend evenings in February. There have been but three breaks reported in Cambridgeport over the past sixty days.

Most of the housebreak activity in this Area 4 hotspot occurred on weekends in January. There were also 3 breaks targeting laptops (2 through forced rear doors) in February. There have been only two unrelated breaks in this cluster over the past two months.

Housebreaks

What can we do?

Police Response Strategy:

- Cambridge Police have deployed extra patrols to the affected areas in order to combat any recent increases in housebreaks.
- CPD also uses plainclothes officers and detectives in affected areas.

Citizen Response Strategy:

- Citizens are asked to take the following precautions to protect themselves, their homes, and their belongings from burglaries:
  - Try “casing” your own home.
  - ALWAYS lock your doors and windows. Many housebreaks have occurred through open windows or unlocked doors.
  - Leave a light on when you leave.
  - Install motion sensor lights.
  - NEVER prop open the door or let someone in behind you.
  - Be vigilant. If you suspect suspicious activity, please report it to the police immediately by calling 617-349-3300.
  - Document serial numbers of all electronics and take pictures of all valuables.
  - Request a Residential Security Survey from the Cambridge Police Department. For more info, please call 617-349-3236.

- Overall, larceny year-to-date has decreased by 21% when compared with the same time frame in 2012 and is down 15% when measured against the five-year weighted average for this time frame. The substantial decline seen earlier in the year is slowly evening out, however at the end of March, larceny had been down 32% compared to 2012 and 24% compared to the five-year average.
- The decrease in larceny from motor vehicles (-23%) compared to 2012 can likely be attributed to arrests in January and snow storms in February and March. In April, a possible pattern began to emerge in the Agassiz/Peabody area.
- Larcenies from persons citywide have declined 20% from 2012. Only three thefts were reported in April at Harvard Sq bars/restaurants, which is usually a problem spot for dipper activity. We are keeping an eye on a recent increase in thefts at churches, most of which took place in early April in Harvard Sq.
- Larcenies from buildings are now up 1% over 2012, after having been down 12% at the end of March. A re-emergence of thefts from lockers at health clubs in April is partly to blame for the increase. There were eight of these thefts this month, all but one in the second half of the month and all at gyms in Porter Sq and the Alewife area.
- In 2013, there have been 40 bike thefts to date, registering a 39% decline from 2012 but only a 7% drop from the five-year average.

Emerging Patterns

- Larcenies from MVs in 2013 are down 23% when compared with the same time frame in 2012, with 47 fewer thefts recorded. Larcenies from motor vehicles have decreased 25% when compared with the five-year average, with 53 fewer incidents than the norm. The large drop in larcenies from motor vehicles citywide can likely be attributed to the arrest of two people committing these crimes in January and the multiple snow storms that buried the area in February and March.
- Only when measured against the previous four weeks do we see an increase in this crime, with thefts from MVs rising 48% (13 more incidents than in March).
- The most active area for thefts from MVs is currently in Agassiz and Peabody. There were 14 thefts reported in these two neighborhoods in April, mainly on Wednesday and Thursday nights through unlocked doors, targeting loose change.
- There were also four tire thefts reported in April (three in North Cambridge and one in Mid-Cambridge), targeting Toyota Venzas and Honda Fits.

LARCENY from MV Activity, April 2013

The Agassiz/Peabody area was the most active spot in the city for car breaks in April. 14 thefts were reported, particularly in the areas of Upland Rd and Arlington St. Incidents were mainly Wednesday and Thursday nights through unlocked car doors, targeting cash/loose change and miscellaneous electronics.

Mid Cambridge was one of the most active areas for LMVs in January, but has quieted down considerably since then due to arrests. Only 3 thefts were reported there in April. However, at least one tire theft has been reported each month in the Trowbridge St area, requiring further monitoring and analysis.

West Cambridge has seen 30 LMVs year-to-date, with 19 reported in January (with a hotspot cluster in the Mt Auburn & Sparks St area). Incidents cooled in February and March. There were 7 reported in April, all overnight on Wednesday and Thursday nights with no notable spatial hotspots. Most were through unlocked car doors.

There have been 21 car breaks in Area 4 to date, with only four reported in April. No new incidents were reported on Bishop Allen Dr specifically (previous problem area), but a few were reported on streets nearby in mid-April.

Larceny from Motor Vehicles

What can we do?

Police Response Strategy:

- Cambridge Police are focused on prevention of these crimes by increasing officer visibility in targeted areas.
- Citizens are encouraged to take the proper precautions to protect their vehicles and their belongings by doing everything possible to not make their vehicles easy targets.

Citizen Response Strategy:

- Citizens are asked to take the following precautions to protect themselves, their vehicles, and their belongings from theft:
  - Make sure all of your car doors are locked when you leave your vehicle.
  - Take extra care when out doing your shopping.
  - If you are approached by a suspicious person while you are in your vehicle, sound your horn to attract attention.
  - NEVER LEAVE VALUABLES EXPOSED IN YOUR CAR.
    - If you must leave packages or valuables in your car, place them in the trunk of under a blanket to conceal them

- When comparing the first four months of 2013 to the same time frame in 2012, larcenies from persons are down 20%. The five-year average for this larceny type during this time frame is 103, which is 8% higher than the 95 recorded thus far in 2013.
- In the past 4 weeks, larcenies from the person have dropped 8% from 25 in March to 23 in April. Harvard Sq usually accounts for a significant portion of these incidents at the many bars and restaurants in the Square (known as "dipper" activity), but there were only three dipper incidents reported in Harvard Sq in April.
- April saw an increase in the number of thefts from churches (three larcenies from persons and two from buildings). The majority took place at Harvard Sq churches during the first half of the month. Incidents took place on Sunday mornings and on a Wednesday and Saturday evening.

- Just as bike ridership drops in the winter (particularly during snowy winters like the one that just ended), so does the rate of bicycle thefts. Through the first four months of the year, there were 26 fewer bikes stolen when comparing 2013 with 2012, resulting in a 39% decrease. The five-year weighted average of bike thefts for this time period is 43 incidents; thus far in 2013, Cambridge is registering slightly below that level with 40 reported thefts (-7%).
- At this time, no spatial or temporal bike theft patterns exist in the city. Of the 16 bike thefts reported during the month of April, seven different neighborhoods experienced two bike thefts each. The Central Sq business district saw the most incidents overall with four thefts.
