What is evidence-based?

For the purposes of the SLFRF, evidence-based refers to interventions with strong or moderate evidence.
Preliminary evidence means that the evidence base can support conclusions about the program’s contribution to observed outcomes. The evidence base consists of at least one non-experimental study. A study that demonstrates improvement in program beneficiaries over time on one or more intended outcomes OR an implementation (process evaluation) study used to learn and improve program operations would constitute preliminary evidence. Examples of research that meet the standards include: (1) outcome studies that track program beneficiaries through a service pipeline and measure beneficiaries’ responses at the end of the program; and (2) pre- and post-test research that determines whether beneficiaries have improved on an intended outcome.
In general, categories of ineligible expenditures include:

- Using the money for federal matching funds
- Premium pay for employees who were able to telework during the public health emergency
- Funding pension accounts, paying off outstanding debt, or making deposits to reserve accounts or rainy day funds
