CAMBRIDGE DOMESTIC/SEXUAL VIOLENCE RESOURCES

Abuse is not just physical, it can also be verbal, emotional, mental, financial, or sexual. If you have concerns about being in an abusive situation, or know someone who is, there is support available. As “social distancing” is encouraged we understand that domestic and/or sexual violence might increase in the home. Individuals may be isolated with an abusive partner or household member, be in fear and unable to access critical services for safety and support. As a result of the guidance issued by the Governor and the Massachusetts Department of Public Health (DPH) there have been temporary shifts to many services to minimize the risk of the COVID19 virus transmission. This document offers current information about available resources in and around Cambridge for at risk individuals and families who are in need of support due to domestic violence, sexual violence, family violence, and partner abuse.

Massachusetts residents experiencing domestic violence that are seeking emergency shelter, information about options and safety planning, or are questioning unhealthy aspects of their relationship and wish to access free, confidential, 24/7 support can call SafeLink, a toll-free, multi-lingual hotline (877) 785 2020.

SAFETY PLANNING TIPS AND TOOLS

Safety plans are valuable tools if you are in an abusive relationship. You may have to adjust your tools to stay safe during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Safety in Close Quarters: Families will likely find themselves spending most or all of their time in close quarters. There are steps that you can take to try and avoid escalating situations within the home.

● Create scheduled time where you and your partner are in different rooms of your home.
● If possible, go on walks or exercise outside separately from your partner.
● Keep to a schedule for children’s meals, wake-up, learning, and bedtime.
● Keep a phone charged and available.
● Stay with friends or family for an extended period of time.
● If you are not living with your partner:
  ○ You may be easier to find and/or track now that you are in your home at all times.
  ○ Make sure to lock all doors, contact building management to change locks if needed.
  ○ Notify a trusted neighbor or building security to call 911 if your partner is seen in the building.

Safety During Escalating Moments: If an escalating situation is unavoidable, you may find yourself with limited ability to leave your home, seek help from neighbors, or stay with friends or family for an extended period of time.

● If possible call 911 for emergency services. Text 911 is also available in Cambridge
● Have a code word or phrase established with a trusted friend or family member who can alert police to respond to an emergency when you are unable to call 911.
● Avoid the kitchen, bathroom, or any room where a weapon is kept.
● Try and create physical space between yourself and your partner by going into another room until things de-escalate.
● If possible, go for a walk or exercise outside to give things time to de-escalate.
● Attempt to keep children safe and in a different room with the door closed.
● Teach children not to intervene or get involved in the middle of a fight.

Internet Safety: Many people may find themselves working from home or out of work completely. This may require more vigilance and increased safety protocols to keep sensitive information private on your computer and phone.

● Lock your computer while not in use or when you step away.
● Log out of emails, social media, messaging, online banking etc.
● Click “no” when web-browsers ask to “save passwords”.
● Clear search histories, change passwords.

How to Seek Support: Many programs will be operating remotely or offering limited services. Call Safelink’s 24-7 Hotline at (877) 785 2020 or visit https://janedoe.org/find_help/ to find statewide access to support and services.

● If you are seeking services from a program already and it is safe to do so, reach out via phone or email for advice and support.
● Know your local police department’s non-emergency number to reach out with questions or concerns. Text 911 is also available in Cambridge
● Dial 2-1-1 in the state of Massachusetts for information regarding the COVID-19 pandemic

Protection Orders: 209A Restraining Orders and 258E Harassment Prevention Orders are still available through your local police department and the Court.

● During weekday/business hours (Mon-Fri 8:30-4:30) you can contact your local Court clerk’s office to inquire about how to apply for a protection order.
● There is a new online filing process if you are unable to appear in person. To access the electronic application visit https://www.mass.gov/topics/abuse-harassment-court-orders
● During non-business hours, weekends, and holidays local police departments can assist you with applying for an emergency RO that is valid until Court reopens for business
● If you have an issued order it is a good idea to keep an extra copy with you at all times in the event your Order is violated you will be asked to show police a copy of the Order when you call 911.
