This summer, the Center for Families, which now includes Baby University, will be running drop-in Summer Park Playgroups in two different local parks. These Playgroups are for Cambridge families with children ages birth—5 years old. Come have some fun time with your children and chat with other parents and Center for Families staff. We will have different interactive activities and games to share as a group! We will also be hosting several parent/child STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math) activities in different locations around the City for Cambridge families with young children. The Center for Families is also a part of the Cambridge Book Bike program, which will be back again this summer. Be sure to get connected with the Center for Families to hear about our summer schedule of activities and events!
