NEWS

- Checkout Bag Ordinance – A proposed ordinance to ban plastic carryout bags was discussed at the December 15th City Council meeting. The City Manager submitted the ordinance with amendments that were developed after an April 2014 Ordinance Committee hearing. The revised proposal requires that if retail establishments provide check out bags, they must be made of recycled paper or compostable plastic, or be reusable. Establishments must charge 10-cents for check out bags. The Climate Protection Action Committee recommended previously that a fee be placed on check out bags alongside a ban on plastic bags to discourage a shift to paper, which tends to have higher greenhouse gas impacts. The Council referred the matter to a public hearing before the Ordinance Committee, which will be held in February, with an expectation that the City Council will vote on the ordinance soon after.
- Urban Heat Island Contest – The Community Development Department is conducting a contest on the MIT Climate CoLab platform to crowdsource ideas to mitigate the urban heat island in Cambridge. Learn about the City of Cambridge Climate CoLab Contest at our taped Google Hangout. We're seeking creative and effective ideas that relate to Cambridge specifically! Feel free to submit your own proposal, add comments to existing proposals, or simply support existing proposals. The contest runs from now through February 6th, 2015. If you submit one of the winning ideas, you'll be able to present it before government officials, business executives, NGO leaders and scientists who can help move proposals toward implementation, as well as share it at an MIT conference, where a $10,000 Grand Prize will be awarded. Even if you don't have new ideas yourself, you can help improve other people's ideas and support the ones you find most promising. Check out the website today and support existing proposals!
