Dear Seniors:

Not sure how to begin with this month's note to you. My note could be focused on the beautiful season of autumn but instead all I can bring myself to write about is the overwhelming sense of grief currently enveloping me. On September 10th, my brother Jimmy passed away. He suffered a massive stroke and within three days, peacefully passed away. During my tenure as Executive Director and scribing these monthly notes, Jimmy has been the subject of a few notes. Jimmy was a developmentally disabled adult. He had a 60% hearing loss. He communicated with basic sign language and minimal verbal communication. If you were to have met him, you would have had difficulty understanding him, but as I am sure you can all understand when I say this, we (his family) understood him completely. We knew through his limited words, his gestures and just simply by his disposition what he wanted and needed. Jimmy also had complex medical issues and had received a kidney transplant almost 6 years ago. He lived at home with my parents. He was incredibly happy at home with all his "things", watching his game shows, having his favorite snacks and awaiting the visits of his niece and nephews. Now he is gone. I find myself saddened by the loss of my sibling. Jimmy was special and we had a special bond. I have had a hand in Jimmy's care since I was 10 years old. Much more so during the last 15 years. A calendar marked with Jimmy's appointments; side bar lists of things to remember to get for Jimmy; text messages from the pharmacy that it is time for Jimmy's Flu/COVID vaccine. None of these no longer needing to be managed. This is the new reality that I must now navigate. I have been fortunate to have such tremendous support from family, friends and colleagues. One colleague shared this treasured comment with me:

"I have always treasured running into you and asking about Jimmy; your love for him radiated in the way your entire being lit up when speaking about Jimmy. Please know that I have and will always love hearing about Jimmy if you find yourself wanting to talk about him. It's hard to believe I never met Jimmy given the ripple effects he has had on my life."

For anyone reading this experiencing their own personal loss, my condolences. I would welcome anyone needing to talk, to please reach out to me at 617-349-6220. or spacheco@cambridgema.gov

Let us support one another.

Warm Regards,

Susan P. Pacheco

Executive Director

The presentation will also provide practices that help people move from avoidance or denial of “being old” towards more satisfaction with their long life.
